'DOWN LIKE STONE' German Navy Sub Sinks; One Saved

HAMBURG, Germany (AP) — A West German training submarine with 21 aboard sank in a North Sea gale Wednesday night and one survivor and two drowned crewmen have been picked up, the navy reported today. A spokesman said there is still hope for additional survivors because of reports that several of the crew were on deck when the 118-foot submarine Hai — shark — sank. One officer said the submarine apparently was caught by surprise when the gale blew up "but it's not clear to me why they did not immediately submerge. The gale must have come with great speed." Ships, planes and helicopters stepped up the search for survivors in the North Sea 180 miles east of Newcastle, England, but were hampered by strong winds and heavy seas. Joining in the hunt was the U.S. Navy's submarine rescue vessel Kittiwake. She is capable of saving men in a submerged submarine at 850 feet by the use of rescue chambers.

Floating in the water for 12½ hours before being picked up by a British trawler, the survivor said the Hai "suddenly sank like a stone." The 180-ton submarine had been sunk in the Baltic during World War II and refloated in 1956. She was refitted in 1963. The coastal radio station Norddeich said the sub was sailing on the surface when the engine room was swamped.

80 'Takers' For Elderly Housing

Chikaming Project Could Total $1 Million

SAWYER — A $1 million housing project for retired persons may be located in Chikaming township in the near future, if present plans meet the approval of the Federal Housing Administration's regional office in Chicago.

This announcement was made today by the survey committee of the Senior Citizens Housing committee which is composed of elderly persons in south Berrien county.

A survey has produced requests for some 80 apartments, including efficiency, one-bedroom and two-bedroom units. It is expected that each apartment will cost between $8,000 and $10,000 to build and equip with individually controlled heating systems, refrigerator, kitchen range and built-in cabinets.

Proposed monthly rent costs would range from $75 for an efficiency apartment to $85 and $100 for one- and two-bedroom apartments with payment of all utilities and maintenance included in this amount. No founders' fee would be required.

The proposed housing project would be like a village with four to six apartment units in each building on ground level. The buildings would be spread out on a large tract of land. It would also include central activity rooms, lounge area, laundry facilities and an infirmary.

Plans for the village have been approved by the Chikaming township board, the Senior Citizens club of Harbert, the Sawyer Businessmen's association and the administrator of the Chikaming Medical Center. In the next few weeks members of the Senior Citizens Housing committee will seek the support of all civic groups, clubs and churches in the area, asking for support of the project.

Most of the requests for apartments in the village have come from the Sawyer area, followed by Harbert, Three Oaks, Bridgman and New Buffalo. Numerous requests have come from the Chicago area and one each from Georgia and Arizona.

The committee will meet Friday evening with an architect and housing consultant to make further preparations on the housing project. Plans call for the committee to be formally incorporated under Michigan laws.

Red Guards Ordered To Stop

Disrupting China's Economic Life

TOKYO (AP) — Communist China's leaders today told the Red Guards to end their revolutionary drive which has brought turmoil to the country and criticism from abroad.

The instructions, in an editorial in the official Peking People's Daily, apparently was the climax to a slow effort to bring the youthful guards under control after they got out of hand.

The move reflected concern that the Red Guard activities might be disrupting agricultural and industrial production. There also were indications that Communist officials decided on the full crackdown because of foreign reaction to the guards and because of difficult natural conditions, including drought, at home.

The editorial warned that "under no circumstances must production be allowed to slow down."

"During the busy fall harvesting season," it told the Red Guards, "you may cease your revolutionary activities."

Whether the Red Guards will be allowed to resume their activities after the harvest is not certain. The editorial could be a diplomatic way of clamping down on the guards once and for all.

BIG GAME

Romney Should Sit In End Zone

LANSING (AP) — Gov. George Romney, who's been sort of a good luck charm at previous Michigan State - Michigan games, says he plans to attend this year's encounter Oct. 8.

But, he told a news conference Wednesday, he doesn't know yet on which side he'll end up sitting. He has traditionally changed sides at halftime.

In the previous clashes between the two teams he's attended as Michigan's chief executive, Romney said he has always ended up sitting on the winning side. What's more, he said, "his" team always has outscored its opponent during the half in which he sat on its side of the field.

The 1966 game will be played at East Lansing's Spartan Stadium.

Minimum Wage Bill Waits For Signature

Will Cover Some Farm Workers

Senate Balks At GOP Attempt To 'Water' Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Legislation sending the minimum hourly wage to $1.60 in 1968 — above the government-recognized poverty income level — and extending coverage to some farm workers awaits President Johnson's signature.

The Senate approved the compromise bill 55 to 38 Wednesday in almost exactly the form the President requested after rejecting Republican efforts to send it back to House-Senate conference for watering down.

Major provisions would:

Increase the present $1.25 minimum wage to $1.40 next Feb. 1 and to $1.60 a year later for nearly 30 million workers now covered.

NEW COVERAGE

Bring under the act for the first time noncivil service federal government workers, some farm workers, nonteaching employees of grade and high schools, and employees of hotels, motels, restaurants, laundries, transit systems, colleges and universities.

Broaden coverage to medium-size retail stores, bringing 1.5 million additional workers under the wage and hour law.

The $1.60 minimum would bring to $3,328 the gross income of a covered employee working 40 hours a week for a full year.

That is slightly above the $3,000 which some government agencies consider the minimum an average family must earn to stay out of poverty.

The present minimum wage yields $2,600 on an annual full-time basis.

FARM SECTION

The 380,000 newly covered farm workers would start at $1 and progress in annual 15-cent steps to $1.30 by Feb. 1, 1969. Only farms affected would be those using 500 or more man-days of employment in a three-month period, equivalent to seven full-time workers.

The other newly covered workers would make four 15-cent annual steps to a $1.60 minimum as of Feb. 1, 1971.

About 12 per cent of the 29.6 million workers now covered by the act are estimated to be affected by the rise to $1.40 in February. About 18 per cent of those now covered earn less than the eventual $1.60 minimum.

Most of the 8 million newly covered workers would begin with a $1 minimum next Feb. 1. The Labor Department estimates slightly more than 1 million of these now earn less than $1.

Present law exempts hotels, restaurants, retail stores and many other businesses doing less than $1 million business a year, but the bill would drop the ceiling to $500,000 on Feb. 1 and $250,000 on Feb. 1, 1969.

UAW Will Demand Guaranteed Income

South Haven Conference Hears Reuther Aide

SOUTH HAVEN — A high United Auto Workers official yesterday said a UAW bargaining team is preparing to seek a "substantial wage increase" and a guaranteed income with a conversion to salary when it confronts the leaders of Detroit's auto industry in 1967.

Irving Bluestone, administrative assistant to UAW President Walter Reuther, told delegates attending a union leadership training school at South Haven that the union's national executive board decided only this past week that "wages will be the top priority item" in next year's negotiations for new contracts.

He said the union does not expect to abide by the President's guideline of 3.2 per cent for pay raises.

GUIDELINES 'OBSOLETE'

"The guidelines today have about as much validity as 3.2 beer served during Prohibition," Bluestone said. He said the UAW "hurl the hell out of the guidelines in 1964 and we plan to do it again."

The salaried blue collar worker is "a revolutionary idea... a new breakthrough we intend to make in 1967," the speaker said.

"The bulk of our members are paid by piece work or by the hour. The hourly rate system is obsolete and should be done away with," Bluestone added. "Salaried workers will have a guaranteed pay even when there is no work."

Bluestone explained that a supplemental unemployment benefit clause written into present contracts is a step toward a guaranteed 100 per

"You don't have to worry that General Motors' recession in 1966 is going to have any effect on us when we go to the bargaining table," Bluestone said.

'Way Out' Astronauts Are Safe

Another Near-Perfect Splashdown

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Bringing home a bundle of seven space records, the Gemini 11 astronauts rode to a safe pinpoint landing in the Atlantic today to climax a sensational three-day mission.

America's newest heroes, Charles Conrad Jr. and space-walker Richard F. Gordon Jr., ended one of man's most significant space adventures when they splashed into the sea with view of television cameras aboard the aircraft carrier.

They were quickly taken to the carrier by helicopter.

"This old world looks pretty good from the deck of this carrier," Gordon told the cheering crew of the carrier.

"But I'll tell you something else, it looks great from 850 miles up."

The smiling, heavily bearded astronaut was talking about Gemini 11's record-breaking trip Wednesday to the "top of the world."

"We had a very good flight," Conrad said, "and after a couple nights rest we'll be ready to go again."

An electronic chauffeur, an automatic system being tried for the first time, steered them in a blazing re-entry through the atmosphere and parked them just about two miles off the Guam.

This was closer than any other American manned spaceship has come to its main recovery ship, Gemini 9 held the previous mark, 3½ miles.

Gemini 9, however, still holds the record for closest to the aiming point—an area in the center of the landing zone.

It missed by only 300 yards, while Gemini 11 was more than a mile off that mark.

GOOD SHOOTING

However, officials considered this good shooting for a first try at the automatic re-entry system, which relied on the spacecraft computer and guidance system.

Gemini 11 dropped into the sea at 9 a.m. EST while sailors packed the deck of the carrier to cheer two fellow Navy men. Conrad is a commander and Gordon a lieutenant commander.

Helicopters were overhead swiftly and dropped frogmen into the water to attach a flotation collar.

Twenty minutes later a helicopter hoisted the astronauts out of the floating spacecraft and deposited them on the carrier.

Dressed in their space suits and flashing broad smiles, Conrad and Gordon stepped onto the Guam's deck.

They were welcomed by space agency and Defense Department officials and then stepped to a microphone to make brief statements.

The ship's band had a field day. While the helicopter approached the spacecraft, the band played "The Eyes of Texas Are Upon You" and "Somewhere Over the Rainbow."

As the astronauts stepped onto the flight deck, it struck up "Hi Neighbor" and "Anchors

Says State Leading For 'A' Smasher

LANSING (AP) — Gov. George Romney said Wednesday he was confident that "barring considerations other than those directly related to the project itself," Michigan will get a proposed $1 billion atom smasher currently sought by six points around the nation.

A site near Ann Arbor is one of six selected by the Atomic Energy Commission as finalists in the competition for the National Accelerator Laboratory.

Romney told a "public affairs conference" of the State Chamber of Commerce. "We've put the full force of our state behind the effort to gain approval of Michigan as the site" for the AEC facility.

Area Labor Leader Dies

Following a month long illness, Joseph M. Vega died early Monday at Mercy Hospital.

He came to this area in 1948 from Detroit to serve as the UAW's business agent for a territory which eventually expanded into ten local unions in Berrien, Cass and Van Buren counties.

In spite of protestations to the contrary, the natural outlook back and forth between management and labor at best is one of wariness. Simply by the nature of a basic difference in viewpoint the atmosphere is reminiscent of the noise put up by the Kilkenny cats.

Perhaps not all employers and personnel directors would agree with the statement, but our contacts with Joe (we are not aware he was ever addressed otherwise), starting with a wrestling match with his organization at the Benton Harbor Malleable in 1949, were more contentious than contentious.

He was a tough, shrewd bargainer, a capability for which he was hired, but he possessed other traits which always stirred our admiration.

He understood the other person's position. Police rules from his superiors or local conditions frequently tied his hands in a tough situation, but this insight, if nothing else, moved along what otherwise would have been an absolute stalemate.

Once a deal was made, that was it, for him and those for whom he had bargained. There was no attempt to derail or sideline a commitment.

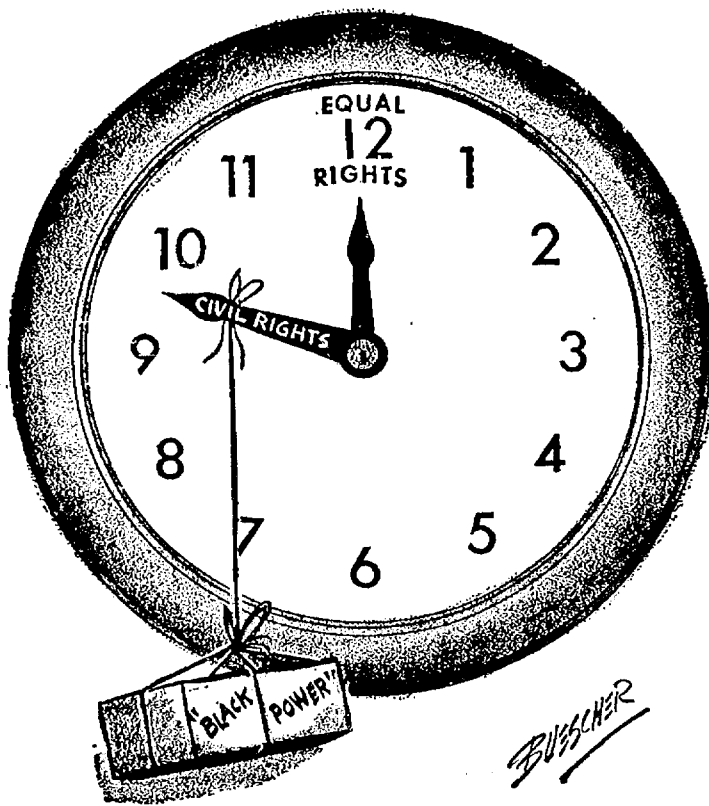

Away from the hurly burly of labor-management entanglements, he was an interesting person to be around.

So many labor leaders appear to function on the principle that if they shed the crusader's robe which is normal attire for the bargaining table or a grievance somehow they're falling down on the job.

Joe never thought it necessary to run under that type of forced draft. The results show he served his constituency well and then could relax with others outside of office hours, so to speak.

Dealing with Joe on a labor matter could be like a fat man trying the high hurdles, but we've never heard of his maneuvers engendering anything but respect for ability and his own integrity.

CLOCK STOPPER

Socialized Medicine Bogeymanraised Again

The Michigan Auto Workers Union leaders spiced up a combination bargaining seminar and political rally for the Democrats at South Haven this week by firing a blast at a favorite target, the medical profession.

The UAW leadership and the AMA have tangled vigorously since Truman's abortive effort in the early 1950s to install a skeletal form of socialized medicine.

The doctors won that round and the idea went into mothballs until Kennedy staged a Washington comeback for the Democrats.

The first step toward socialized medicine was taken last year when Congress adopted medicare.

The South Haven conference would carry the process further and even faster.

Russell Leach sounded the official line adopted earlier this year by the UAW's national convention which calls for a voluntary ceiling on medical and hospital care and if that guide line is ignored, then have the federal government take over the whole business.

Distasteful as the UAW's alternative may be, the fact remains that the country has had a bear by the tail for nearly two decades in this question of paying to stay healthy.

The bear in this situation is the failure of all or most devices put forth to accomplish what the UAW is now trumpeting.

A good many years ago the publicly or semi-publicly operated hospital attained dominance over the privately owned institution. One of its main props was the double barreled argument that removing the profit motive would reduce cost to the patient and simultaneously establish a money pool to improve service. The latter came about; the former remains a myth.

In the 1930s a group of Texas schoolteachers started the insurance plan from which Blue Cross and Blue Shield was to emerge in their present form.

Some private companies were writing that coverage, but not on the comprehensive basis the teachers desired; and, again, it was argued that an insurance co-operative could save the premium cost involved in private coverage.

However, instead of looking up the new instrumentality as most people regard fire insurance, namely, spreading the risk for a catastrophe, the public responded to the new hospital and medical insurance as an umbrella open 24 hours a day. Today most hospital gear their charges to what it is felt the insurance will carry, and much the same thinking applies to non-hospital fees.

In partial defense to this patient flood, the newer policies are being written with a deductible clause.

The wonder drug has some implication of financial legerdemain in it. Perhaps unconsciously, each announcement of the newest pill or injection stirs thoughts of a $5 dosage curing ailments that under conventional treatment can run into the hundreds or thousands.

The root cause in this frustration is a change in the public's outlook on disease and health. People are infinitely more conscious and therefore, more worried, today about lodgements which our forebears never even noticed.

This creates a demand which when equated against supply sets the health price where it is.

The British adopted the UAW's ultimatum shortly after World War II, using taxpayer to subsidize the individual's health.

Reports on its accomplishment are conflicting and emotionally colored.

The calmer opinion seems to be that England's nationalized system is extending care to many who previously received aid almost as last resort in public charity. The quality of the total service, however, seems to be less than in former days because of spreading the available medical talent too thin; and like everything else the government touches, the expense begins to rise steadily.

Leach sees a demon in the American dilemma.

If he's right, then all of us make up the monster.

The American Way

In Maryland, the mother of 14 children is taking the proper American way to protest and to right a wrong. She and her husband bought a new home with an improperly installed septic tank.

Finding no relief from the builder, and nothing but a few sympathetic words from county officials, Mrs. Flora Fowler of Seabrook, Md., sued the builder. Acting as her own attorney, she won $3,000 for breach of contract and $2,500 for fraud.

Now she is running for a seat in the Maryland House of Delegates. She wants to introduce legislation that will create stricter building codes to protect buyers of homes in subdivisions.

That's the American way to accomplish something!

This is the passing generation. It passes its debts on to the next.

Face powder, hairpins, cooking utensils, sporting goods, toys, electrical appliances, ash trays, and other gadgets on the counters of retail stores this fall are going to show the effect of the defense program, OPM officials said today. Shortages of critical materials needed on the armament program are being felt sharply in scores of industries which make common household articles.

Few defense officials believe, however, that many widely used items will disappear entirely from the market. Substitutes will take the place of aluminum, zinc, copper, and other scarce materials. Hairpins are likely to be of wood or plastics, cellophane, waxed paper and transparent plastics wrappings will be used instead of tinfoil for cheese, candy bars, chewing gum and tea; refrigerator trays of plastics or glass instead of aluminum; enamelware and iron utensils instead of aluminum.

speaking of YOUR HEALTH

If German measles is such a mild disease, why does it cause such terrible complications in a pregnant woman and her unborn child?

Mrs. K. H., Washington
Dear Mrs. H.: Only recently, a similar question was answered in these columns in response to a anxiety after having been exposed to a child who had German measles.

The recent widespread interest in this disease undoubtedly stems from the fact that in 1964 an epidemic of German measles swept the United States, leaving in its wake birth defects in about 25,000 infants, all born to mothers who were infected with this "mild" disease.

For the past 25 years, it has been known that the evasive virus of German measles can infect the unborn child and produce many serious forms of defects, such as deafness, eye defects, and brain damage.

It is now accepted that 25 per cent of all women who develop German measles during the first three months of pregnancy will have infants with some birth defect. It is felt that the earlier in the pregnancy that the infection occurs, the greater the potential risk.

Gamma globulin given to the mother immediately after exposure may, but with no real assurance, minimize the severity of the complications to the infant.

It is recommended that all mothers deliberately expose their infants and children, particularly girls, to anyone who is known to have German measles, hoping that they will acquire it and thus become immune to it for the rest of their lives. Almost always, one attack of German measles does produce immunity.

Unlike regular measles which is highly contagious, German measles is not easily transmitted, even after deliberate exposure.

The real hope lies in the discovery of the exact virus that produces German measles, or rubella. Now it is expected that a vaccine will soon be available to eliminate German measles from the entire population.

Experimental vaccines are already being tried with successful results.

The extensive knowledge made available by the polio, measles, and the new mumps vaccine indicate that a safe and effective vaccine against German measles will undoubtedly be available long before the next epidemic of the disease.

I have noticed a kind of hoarseness that seems to occur just before my menstrual period. Is there really some connection?

Miss J.D.B., Florida
Dear Miss B.: Just before and during the menstrual period, is there really some all parts of the body.

It has been noted by throat specialists that the vocal chords sometimes become temporarily thickened before menstruation, perhaps by accumulating fluid in the tissues. Similar changes have been reported in people who are using the contraceptive pill.

Most grand slams are easy enough to bid when there is a surplus of strength amounting to as much as 16 or 17 tricks in the combined hands.

However, other grand slams may require skillful bidding on both sides, though usually this consists of little more than establishing the proper trump suit, adequate control of all suits (especially with reference to aces), and the all-around strength to produce 13 tricks.

BORN TODAY

The only man to be both president of the United States and chief justice of the U.S. Supreme Court, William Howard Taft was born in Cincinnati, O., in 1857. A graduate of Yale and the Cincinnati Law School, he practiced law, held numerous appointments in the state of Ohio, was U.S. solicitor general, a U.S. circuit court judge, president of the U.S. Philippine Commission and the first U.S. civil governor of those islands.

In 1904, President Theodore Roosevelt named him secretary of War and groomed him as the Republican presidential candidate in 1908. He won the election, defeating the Democrats' silver-tongued orator, William Jennings Bryan.

During Taft's administration and-trust cases were pressed; the Department of Labor was created; the postal savings bank and parcel post systems established; and the 16th and 17th Amendments to the Constitution, providing for income taxes and the direct election of U.S. senators, were passed.

Taft was renominated in 1912, but Roosevelt and other progressives had turned against him. He was defeated in a three-cornered race with Theodore Roosevelt and Woodrow Wilson (the winner), and retired to a constitutional law professorship at Yale University.

In 1921, he was appointed chief justice of the Supreme Court by President Harding.

Others born this day include President Diaz of Mexico, Gen. Albrecht Waldstein, educator Dr. Milton Eisenhower, editor-publisher Frank E. Gannett, actor Jackie Cooper.

The program will climax nearly a month of practice including a week of intensive drills at the Van Buren Youth camp at Bloomingdale.

Director Robert W. Brown said the band is planning "surprise" for Dickinson stadium audiences. Friday night the band will present a new and unique treatment of the traditional "S.J." letters normally seen in the pre-game formation.

Dance Planned After Game At High School

The St. Joseph high school band will sponsor a dance in the high school cafeteria following the Lakeshore-St. Joseph Bears football game at Dickinson stadium Friday night.

Following the "S.J." drill the band will conduct a difficult precision drill including some formations which seem to collide but actually do not.

Another feature of the band's first halftime performance will be a new arrangement of "The Saints in Concert" by Bill Moffitt, assistant conductor of bands at Michigan State university.

MAKING DEBUT

For many members of this year's band the appearance Friday night will be their first for the public. Brown said "this is a young band and it has shown great spirit and much improvement."

Drum major is Doug Sieb and the three new twirlers are Sue Schalon, Pat Damschroeder and Cookie Schuler.

Brown is assisted by Hubert Arnold, Michigan State university student teacher.

FOR OPENER FRIDAY Plane, Truck Racing Band Uniforms Here

Air freight and truck shipments were scheduled to race the clock to provide Benton Harbor high school's marching band with new uniforms for the opening of the football season tomorrow night at Filstrup field.

Director Bernie Kuschel said the 125 uniforms were scheduled to be ready for shipment at 4 p.m. today from the manufacturer at Greenville in south-central Illinois. Getting the uniforms to Benton Harbor was a problem expected to be resolved by air freight to Chicago and truck to Benton Harbor.

"We are assuming we will have them in time for tomorrow night's game," Kuschel said this morning. He was hopeful they would arrive by 8 a.m. tomorrow in time for fitting. The uniforms have been on order since last May.

The 100-member Battle Creek band and the Tiger band will perform at halftime of the season's football opener.

Pre-game festivities at 7:45 p.m. will find both bands massed for the flag raising and the national anthem directed by Charles Hirsch, conductor of the Battle Creek band.

The Tigers' halftime show, planned by Assistant Director Monte Sheedlo, will consist of precision marching to the music of "From This Moment On," "Cute" and "King of the Road." Battle Creek will salute King Football.

Arson Try At Heath Is Foiled

An apparent attempt to start a fire in the service department of Heath Co. was reported Wednesday to St. Joseph police. Ray Nelson, group leader in the service department, told police he turned on the electric power about 6:40 a.m. Wednesday and moments later three rags burst into flame on the floor next to a cabinet.

Nelson discovered they were wrapped around a soldering iron which had been set at its hottest temperature. Nelson said he was the last person to leave the department Tuesday night and recalled seeing the iron in its proper rack.

'Agent' Sought In Check Case

St. Joseph police are investigating the passing of a $905.25 no-account check cashed by Peoples State Bank.

The check, passed Wednesday by a man identifying himself as David L. Mitchell, was drawn on the Everett branch of the National Bank of Washington in Everett, Washington.

The man purchased travelers checks, a safe deposit box and put $200 in a saving account and took $500 with him.

Gerald LeFevre, a vice president of the bank, accepted the check. He said he encountered the man Sept. 7 when the check passer showed identification indicating he is an agent with the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency. He gave a false Lake Shore drive address.

Police have filed information with the Fraud Check File in Washington, D.C., and the F.B.I.

Advisers Pick Two For Talks

Multiple Use Of Facilities Is Heart Of Program

A citizens advisory committee last night voted unanimously to continue negotiations with state officials to determine whether a pilot program of community school services should be set up in the Benton Harbor district.

Elected as representatives to meet with Governor George Romney and his aides were Gordon McKnight and Lloyd Sanborn.

McKnight is manager of corporate and community affairs for Wheelpool Corporation. Sanborn is director of the Benton Harbor YMCA.

Last night's action follows a meeting of the advisory committee with Governor Romney in Lansing on Aug. 24. The governor, aides and officials of the Michigan Human Resources commission explained that the pilot program would involve a partnership between social agencies and schools to combat juvenile delinquency, crime and unemployment.

FIRST TEST
Flint is the pacesetter in the community schools program. The concept involving use of the schools evenings and weekends to provide useful outlets for both youngsters and adults. "Coordinators" in each school set up courses of study and recreation projects. They also attempt to expedite the work of various public and private social agencies in helping families with problems.

Last night Donald McAlvey, assistant superintendent of Benton Harbor schools for instruction, recounted that Benton Harbor has already made a start on a community schools program. With $34,000 in federal funds, programs will begin at Britain school Oct. 1 and later on at Bard school.

McAlvey said Gov. Romney picked Benton Harbor as an ideal test spot to determine whether the community schools concept can be useful to cities throughout the state. He said the state would find money to open four more school programs here if it is mutually agreed that Benton Harbor will be the site of the pilot program. February is the target date for starting, he said.

GIVES DETAILS
Explaining details of the community schools program was Gene McFadden, director of the McFadden explained that the Mott Foundation, which has helped the Flint program, might help finance the Benton Harbor pilot program. But "it will not control it," he declared in answer to questions from Mrs. Mary DeFoe, Mrs. DeFoe, secretary of the NAACP, said the Michigan NAACP has been

B.H. School Administrators' Pay Is Compared To Others

Salaries for Benton Harbor school district administrators were established by the board of education after a survey of five other somewhat comparable districts in Michigan.

The five districts last year paid their superintendents an average of $23,390 while the Benton Harbor superintendent's salary was $20,000. District's salary was $20,000. District's salary was $20,000.

The districts replying to the questionnaire, sent out by the Benton Harbor school administration, ranged from a smaller and wealthier district to systems larger than Benton Harbor.

Names of the districts were not disclosed in accordance with a request from some for anonymity. The superintendent's salary range in the five districts was from $21,750 to $28,500 for the 1965-66 school, according to the survey taken last June. Three districts replied on anticipated salaries for superintendents for 1966-67 — they range from $22,000 to $30,000, and average $25,000.

Acting on these figures, the Benton Harbor board of education Monday granted a three-year contract to Superintendent Albert C. Johnson: $24,000 for this year, $25,000 next year and $27,000 in 1968-69.

This year's salary thus puts Johnson slightly higher than the average for the five corresponding districts last year and lower than the three districts expected to pay this year. The five districts polled were outside the Detroit metropolitan area.

PREVIOUS PAY
Tuesday's account of administrative salaries in this newspaper erroneously stated that Johnson received $19,000 last year while three assistant superintendents each were paid $13,000. Johnson drew $20,000 and the assistants $15,000. Salaries of the assistants were raised to $17,000 by the board of education.

Districts replying to the survey reported they paid assistants $1,700 more than the Benton Harbor district last year. Average salaries for assistants this year was expected to be $17,546.

Salaries of directors in the outstate districts averaged $13,534. The Benton Harbor board established pay levels of $12,500 each for two directors, elementary and public relations - reimbursable programs; and $11,500 each for two others, budget-finance and buildings-grounds. Directors' salaries and the superintendent's pay are based on 52 weeks a year.

Teachers' salary contracts approved by the board last month called for wage increases of $300 for beginning teachers with a bachelor's degree and $324 for a master's.

Soft Whiskey. Is it just another slogan?

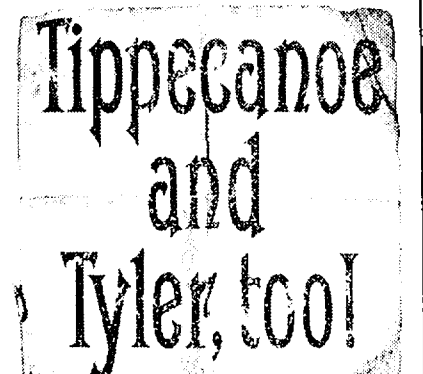

If that were true, we'd be in big trouble by now.

But it took more than some sharp talk on Madison Avenue to make Soft Whiskey soft.

It took time, money and thousands of experiments that failed miserably before we had it:

A whiskey that went down as easy as...well, Soft Whiskey.

But take heed:

That softness we're talking about goes just so far.

After that, Soft Whiskey is 86 proof. Doing what any other respectable 86 proof whiskey can do.

(It's just that getting there is a whole lot easier.)

Naming Soft Whiskey was almost as easy as swallowing it.

One sip and you could have done it yourself.

$10,000 Planning
Fund Comes, GoesBH Skips Talks On Market
By Agriculture Board

The Michigan Agriculture Commission left Benton Harbor last night, its pockets still jangling with $10,000 in unused fruit market planning funds and no clear picture of how or where the funds should be used.

The commission discussed a $10,000 matching legislative appropriation for planning of Benton Harbor's relocated market, but took no official action. No members of city government appeared at the meeting at Holiday Inn, south of Benton Harbor.

Mayor Wilbert Smith said he wasn't informed that the commission would talk about the market Wednesday. "If I had known, I would've been right over there."

DOUBTS OVER SITE
Agriculture Commissioner R.K. Stout said there is a question of how the money should be used to satisfy the legislature. He said commissioners also wonder if the new home of the market near the airport is the ideal site for a permanent market.

Commissioner Charles Donaldson said he talked with four different interests associated with the market during the commission's meeting Tuesday night and got four different opinions on whether the market would be temporary or permanent.

Mayor Smith promised the city will check out the possibility of matching funds to gain the use of the $10,000.

He said he and the city commission, too, don't know exactly what the $10,000 is available for.

TAKING CREDIT
A row developed between State Rep. Floyd Mattheussen (D-Benton township) and State Sen. Charles Zoller (R-Benton Harbor) over who deserved credit for obtaining the market planning funds before the legislature made the appropriation in late June.

During the windup session Wednesday, the agriculture commission also commended the Michigan Department of Agriculture for its part in cracking an alleged bad meat ring near Grand Rapids, and expressed confidence in the agriculture department laboratory and its tests of race horse urine and saliva for evidence of drugging.

Don't End
Tax Credit
--RomneyGovernor Opposes
LBJ's Proposal

By JIM NICHOLS
Associated Press Writer

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George Romney told an audience of businessmen Wednesday he opposes repeal of the seven percent investment credit allowed business firms under federal income tax laws.

"Discouragement of plant expansion at this time is exactly the opposite of what we should be doing," Romney told a "Public Affairs Conference" of the Michigan Chamber of Commerce.

He also said he is recommending "commitment of $20 to $30 million over the next six months in owner-occupied FHA insured mortgages in Michigan" to spur the lagging home-building industry.

WAITED TOO LONG

Romney, frequently mentioned as a possible Republican presidential candidate, said President Johnson "could have taken fiscal action last winter" to head off "the inflation and uncertainty we are currently going through." He did not elaborate.

He said a major cause of inflation was "an excess concentration of economic power on the part of both employers and unions."

Romney cited as an example the recent airline strike settlement, which allowed the machinists union considerably more than the 3.2 per cent annual wage increase recommended by the President's Council of Economic Advisors.

"The national policy of giving one group full advantage of the national productivity increase will put us eventually in the same position as 'great Britain, which is fighting for its economic life,'" Romney said.

MORTGAGE INVESTMENT

About his mortgage investment proposal, the governor said: "For many years our various state retirement funds have been invested in FHA insured mortgages on large multiple units or high-rise apartments, many of them outside of Michigan and not all of them good investments."

"At my instruction the state treasurer has investigated the possibility of investing these funds in $1 million blocks of owner-occupied FHA insured home mortgages."

"Upon his recommendations and based upon certain criteria which will insure the best possible investments, I am recommending such a new policy. I am speaking of the investment or commitment of $20 million to $30 million over the next six months."

The "Public Affairs Conference" continues today, with 14 other candidates for statewide office scheduled to speak. G. Mennen Williams, recovering from kidney surgery, cancelled a scheduled appearance. Williams is the Democratic U.S. Senate candidate.

SCHOOL BOND ISSUE

Watervliet Asks Help
Getting Out The Vote

WATERVLLET — Members of the Watervliet Schools Citizens committee were asked by the school board last night to help get out the vote Oct. 3 when the district ballots on a $425,000 bond issue to equip and furnish the new high school.

The committee met with the school board at the old high school and discussed the new high school that is now under construction.

Board president James Colman said the proposed bond issue would cost $9 additional a year for the average home in the Watervliet district which is assessed at $2,400 for tax purposes.

Those eligible for the home-stead tax exemption would pay only $6 on this basis, said Colman.

He explained that the new bond issue for equipment and furniture is necessary because the original $1.7 million bond issue provided only enough money to build the school. The proposed $425,000 bond issue would run for 29 years, the same as the $1.7 million bond issue already approved.

LOWER GRADES

The school board announced that the old high school building will serve as the junior high when the new building is completed next September.

In Stevensville

Dahlia fanciers throughout southwestern Michigan have been invited to exhibit in the annual dahlia show Saturday and Sunday sponsored by Emlong Nurseries, Stevensville.

The annual show draws 3,000 to 4,000 persons for the two-day exhibit. This is the first year, however, that amateur dahlia gardeners have been invited to exhibit.

There will be three basic divisions of blossoms and judging will be by popular vote.

A spokesman for Emlong Nurseries said visitors will be given a ballot on which they can vote for the top dahlia of their choice in exhibition, cactus and pompon divisions. Dahlias will be numbered.

PRIZES, RIBBONS

A total of nine prizes and nine ribbons, three in each division will be presented.

The flowers by amateur gardeners will not be in competition with any from professional growers.

With the expansion of the show to include flowers from private gardens the number of blossoms on exhibit should run into the hundreds.

The nursery is located at I-94 and Lake Shore drive. Only the Stevensville nursery of the various Emlong nursery centers will exhibit the dahlias.

In the past the dahlia show was the target of scores of color camera enthusiasts. Dahlias come in many colors. Some of the blossoms are solid and others are multi-colored.

Main dahlia colors are white, clear yellow, pink, rose, red orange, deep red and deep purple.

FOUND IN MEXICO

The history of the dahlia is as colorful as the flower. It was discovered in Mexico and taken to Europe about 1789.

The flower caught the attention of Anders Dahl, a Swedish botanist for whom the dahlia was eventually named. Dahl was able to develop several strains of dahlia plants and botanists have been experimenting every since.

The Peter DeGroot dahlia farms of Coloma will provide the display flowers. There will be ball dahlias, giant, cactus, border and pompon type dahlias.

Hours of the show will be from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. both Saturday and Sunday.

Jessie Lee Kitchens, 39, of the Kenneth Wendzell farm, Bainbridge Center road, was bound over to circuit court Wednesday on two counts of negligent homicide.

St. Joseph Municipal Judge Maurice A. Weber ordered Kitchens bound over following a preliminary examination of the charges.

Kitchens was arrested Sept. 6 following an auto accident in which his 3-year-old son, David, and Mrs. Willie May Frazier were killed. The accident happened at Napier avenue and M-140 in Bainbridge.

Kitchens is to appear in circuit court at 1:30 p.m. Friday. He is held in jail in lieu of $500 bond.

Three men pleaded guilty to possession of an unregistered gun. The plea came after charges of carrying concealed weapons were dismissed and the lesser charge made.

Bennie Bush, 55, of Sodus, in whose auto the weapon was found, was sentenced to 20 days in jail. Anthony Williams, 29, of Sodus, and Jerry Morris, 53, who gave no current address, were sentenced to 10 days each. All received credit for time served since their arrest Sept. 2 in Benton township.

Problem In Weesaw Twp.

NEW TROY — The Weesaw township dump caretaker, Walter Phillips, has been instructed to take steps to prevent non-residents from using the dump.

Residents complained to the township board last night that outsiders were using the facility.

Supervisor Allen Boyd said he will have the township fire station's drain unplugged and would seek information about having the south side of the fire station made into a parking lot.

The board approved larger overhead rotary and flashing lights for the township fire trucks and will have an electrician check the fire station's outdoor lighting system. These items were requested by Robert Wykoff who represented the fire department.

Clerk John Payne said he would obtain estimates on new tires for the fire trucks.

He said the land will be used for a supermarket of at least 25,000 square feet size. Final plans are not yet resolved and Loeser said the supermarket is expected to be built in 1967 or 1968 as part of a 65-acre shopping center at that site. His property fronts on US-31.

Loeser purchased the five acres with the help of the Spartan wholesale grocery company.

He is the owner of the Lou-Ann Valley Farm Ranch Supermarket at Niles and the Lou-Ann Foodland supermarket at Dowagiac.
